The Pittsburgh Lamp
is one of the best inventions that seems to be finished. It seems to reach the end as to goodness. It is light in every way, and ease of management. The only care it requires is filling and wiping. Dirt falls out when the chimney is taken off, and is not caught in a pocket as in other central-draft lamps. Putting in a new wick is a very easy matter indeed. All this seems strange to one who knows how troublesome other good lamps are. It is in all the good lamp stores. Send for a primer. Pittsburgh, Pa. PITTSBURGH BURNER CO.

CHAPTER VI
OUT OF THE COUNTRY.
"How long shall you be there?" she presently inquired.
"But in any event it will be pleasant. You have never seen the great west. Chicago is a wonderful city, and the way from here to there. It is a charming country—the great prairie and all that."
"There's no argument," replied Aunt Margaret, half seriously, "if you must go, you must go, and there's the end of it."
It thrilled Rosalie when the train began to move. It was her first experience in railroad travel. Through the window she saw the houses of the little town slipping away to the rear. A current of cool air came in and mountains rose before her.
Mr. Roosevelt sat down by her and gradually drew her into conversation as they went chattering along between the great dusky summer hills.
An exclamation took possession of her. All traces of her recent disappointment, her cheeks glowing and her eyes looking at their wonted depth and clearness with an added intensity which was not lost on the strong, healthy old man.
"That's a beautiful view," he said to his wife, when the opportunity offered. "I don't see good to be near her. She is a beautiful woman, and something. See what a profile and what hair! A genuine countenance and that incomparable air of innocence!"
"How you rave!" exclaimed Aunt Margaret, when he had finished. "My husband should be like Rosalie."
The young girl was a few feet away from her, looking over her shoulder at the changing landscape as it fled past.
"That's a beautiful view," he said to his wife, when the opportunity offered. "I don't see good to be near her. She is a beautiful woman, and something. See what a profile and what hair! A genuine countenance and that incomparable air of innocence!"

Hartford Weekly Herald.
True and yet in this battle between organized protectionism and the Republican party with its tremendous money power, on the one hand, and the people of the United States on the other, the people are to win. The dawn of their triumph already appears, and no protectionism when the people shall again control.

which killed part of the tenderest vegetables. Most all of the beans were killed. I had about four or five bushels that were not injured much, and if nothing happens by the time this is printed the writer's family will have green beans, English peas, Irish potatoes, onions, cabbage and turnips to eat, and my own raising. Good butter is worth 40 cents per pound. Eggs 25 cents per dozen. Hens 90 cents per head. At present, eggs are worth 25 cents per dozen. Chicks 10 cents per hundred. Corn is at 10 cents and some has been plowed twice. Weather warm and the health of the people good.
